Earn a Bachelor's in Teaching to Match Your Professional Expertise!

We are currently accepting applications for the Professional Technical Teacher Education BAS (Bachelor of Applied Science) degree program at South Seattle College. Our program is specifically designed for industry professionals, corporate educators, and community and technical college workforce instructors to become highly-skilled technical education teachers. Students will learn how to shift their focus from teaching purely for content mastery to student-centered learning and leadership. In order to support the lives of working professionals, our classes are offered primarily online. The 90-credit program can be completed in six quarters, and is designed for those who have already completed a two-year associated degree or another post-secondary degree, along with a minimum of two years professional work experience.

We encourage you to apply for our next cohort beginning in fall 2014. For general inquiries, please visit our degree program webpage: www.southseattle.edu/teacher-education
